SCHOOLS OPEN ON MONDAY.

330,000 Pupils Will Be Rounded Up by 4,635 Instructors.

Great Improvements in the Way of Ventilation and Sanitation.

On Monday morning, after more than two months of rest from study, this city's 330,000 public school scholars will return to their class-rooms, refreshed and ready for another term's work.

The coming year's study will be attended by more favorable conditions than have been enjoyed by the scholars and teachers since the inauguration of the public school system.

Full details of the improvements are to be given by the Board of Education, which will add to the happiness and comfort of the children and their preceptors, who are given in "The Evening World."

In several new buildings have been erected, so that all accommodations for 6,789 new pupils have been provided.

Superintendent of School Buildings Snyder is enthusiastic over the increased facilities and arrangements by which perfect ventilation and sanitation and the consequent better health of the scholars and teachers are assured. "No schools in the country can equal ours in this respect," said Mr. Snyder today.

"Thirty-two cubic feet of fresh air, minute and uniform temperature, in rooms of 20 degrees, are all factors towards lessening the dangers of ill health among the pupils. There will be no further cause for complaint about unsanitary rooms, for all such have been abandoned."

The increased facilities will necessitate many more teachers, of which there are already 4,635.

The cost of erecting new school buildings has not ended yet by any means. Within the next twelve months or for which contracts have been awarded, will be finished, and accommodations made for 12,840 more scholars.

At present, New York has every reason to be proud of her school system. The attendance of every pupil on the rolls is expected when the bell rings at 9 o'clock day after to-morrow.
